Rev. B. H. Dupuy preached at night. The attendance of the congregation both upon the business sessions and the preaching was unusually large. Both morning and night they filled the church, sometimes to overflowing. Many, too distant to go bome and return, brought both dinner and supper for themselves and guests, that they might remain for the night service. The hospitality of Christians of all denominations to the members of the Presbytery was most cordial, and their attentions to our comfort unremitting during our sojourn

Extraordinary Influence of the Mind over the Bedy. [Chicago Times.]

He wastes very little time in preliminary discussions of psycho biological relations, but proceeds at once to the relation of a large number of cases in which serious and apparently chronic diseases, sometimes of a most plarming character, were produced solely by the operations of the mind. The first given is very curious, because it shows an instance in which a man came to have a broken leg set, and which proved to be a case in which the bone had not been broken at all. The patient was crossing the street one day when he fell. and, as he supposed, broke his thigh-bone. Physicians of eminence were called, who bandaged the leg and splintered it, but they could obtain no union of the fracture. An examination by Taylor proved that cords of Church Sessions complimented the there never had been a fracture; and yet there was almost every possible symptom of one. The Burglar and the Editor.

GLACIS,
A burglar climbed into an editor's room. A burgiar climbed into an editor's rectain.

Needy and poor was he;

And he saw in the dim. uncertain gloom,

With legs as long as the stem of a broom,

A pair of trousers; "1" just freeze to 'em,"

He chuckled, with fiendish glee.

SCARP. He lifted them up from the back of the chair;
Lightly they bung on his arm;
They were the editor's only pair,
Thinner than gossamer everywhere;
Oh, but the knees were worn and bare;
Good clothes—when the weather is warm.

COUNTERSCARP. All over the room he searched in vain;
There was no more to find;
There was no sign of sordid gain,
No passing drops from a rolden rain,
Only the wealth of a sleeper's brain,
The peace of the editor's mind.

PARAPET. He turned his back on that happy home,
Thoughtfully hefting those pants;
Out of the window he cautiously clome;
He emptied the pockets—a broken comb,
A stut of a pencil, a manuscript poem, Answered his scarching glance.

Then on to a wealthier house he spect.

He said to himself, and when night had fled,
And the editor rose from his virtuous bed
And found the money, he whistled and said,

CUTICURA.

CUTICURA REMEDIES.

The success attending the use of these great rem edies in the treatment of affections of the Skin and Scalp with Loss of Hair is astonishing. From every part of the country come the most grateful acknowledgments of what might be called miraculous cures. Messrs. WEEKS & POTTER extend their thanks to all who have spoken a good word for CUTICURA, CUTICURA SOAP, and CUTICURA RE-SOLVENT, and will thankfully receive reports of new cases wherever they occur.

SALT RHEUM ON BODY AND LIMBS. OBLIGED TO GO ABOUT ON CRUTCHES. A WONDERFUL CURE.

Messrs. Weeks & Potter: Gentlemen,—In justice to those who may suffer as I have suffered, and as a grateful acknowledgment of the cure I have received from the use of the CUTICURA REMEDIES, I voluntarily make the following statement:

I have had Salt libeum on my body and on one leg DIES, I voluntarily make the following statement:
I have had Salt I beum on my body and on one leg in a very aggravated form for eight years. No kind of treatment, or nedicine, or doctors, during this time did me any permanent good. My friends in Malden and elsewhere know that I have been a great sufferer, and that my condition at times has been such as to make me despair of ever being able to find a cure, or even a relief. Indiact, when I began the use of CUTICURA my limb was so raw and tender that I could not bear my weight on it without the skin cracking and bleeding, and was obliged to go about on crutches. I commenced to use the CUTICURA in April, and at once realized its beneficial effects. It gradually drew the inflammation and humor to the surface, and as fast as it appeared healed it. At times large quantities would come to the surface, causing burning, heat, inflammation, swelling, and itching, which, under the constant use of CUTICURA, would rapidly subside and heal.
Each time these outbreaks grew less and less severe,
and finally disappeared, leaving me perfectly cured.
Fused the CUTICURA five months, and took the ReSOLVENT most of the time, which were the only remedies I used. I think the RESOLVENT a very strengthening and purifying medicine to take in and fartyreme cases as mine, because the disease is strengthening and parifying medicine to take in such extreme cases as mine, because the disease is so weakening to the system.

Very gratefully yours,

MRS. ASA R. BROWN.
